SPENT THE NIGHT ON

A Party of Eleven Without Food or Water.

(From Monday's daily.)

VERY tired and much-dilapidated looking party of boys and girls drove into the extensive grounds of F. A. Schnefer on the Nuuanu road yesterday afternoon about three o'clock. The dresses worn by the young ladies torn and ragged and their hait was bedraggled, while the boys' clothes were in a similar torn condition; their hands were scratched and they appeared in anything but a Sunday go-10meeting condition.

And yet less than thirty-six hours before these same boys and girls had de-parted from the Schaefer residence, looking their best, in high spirits and afficipating a jolly time. A night on the Pali, in its highest, most inaccessible part, without food, water or shelter, tells the simple tale of the difference in the morning.

In the party which suffered in this most disagreeable adventure were Miss Lena Adams, Lyle A. Dirscy Jr., Percy Gusivell, Elsie Schaefer, Linta Schaef-er, and Gustav Schaefer, Reba Thompson and Bobbie Thompson, Annie Tucker and Kirkby Tucker and Miss Camer-

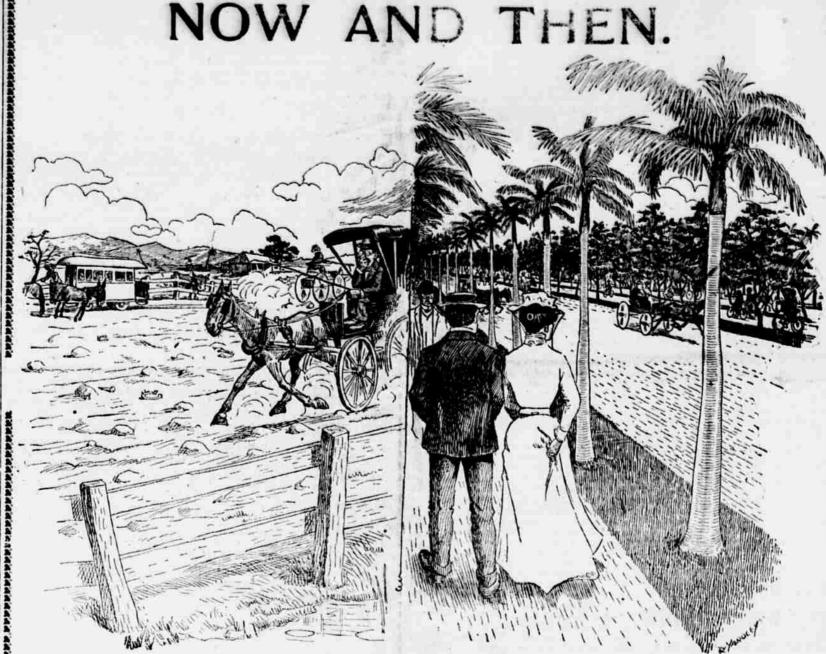

They left the Schaefer place about 8 o'clock Saturday morning, taking a small lunch and intending to spend the day in a tramp over the Pali. All the members of the party are experienced In mountain climbing and gave but litthe heed to any feeling of fatigue, as they trudged out the main Nuusna road and through Rook Valley to the mountain range. They were naif way to the top of Lanihuli when they sat down for lunch at one p'elass. I was ca'y a frugal repast for the members of the party were antidipating a treat upon their return home, which they expected the long trams to make more enjoy-Though late when they again resumed the journey the boys and girls were determined to make the ascent of the Pall and return on the other side. There was little steep for the party of eleven Saturday night, for the Lare moist ground was hardly as soft a couch as that to which they had been WILL OPEN FOR all accustomed; and though there was no particular danger, it was more comforting to sit and talk than to be in silence, waiting for morning to come.

A COMPARISON of the present streets in Kakaako and other sections and the beautiful poinciana and palm-lined, four-mile, macadamized boulevard which is proposed to be built from Union Square to Kapiolani Park and Diamend Head, connecting with the new Diamend Head, and two tensors in full flower with their variegated colors, and the polani Park and Diamend Head, connecting with the new Diamend Head road, makes converts of the most pessimistic. There is not a street in Honolulu which can be called a boulevard in any sense of the word, and the only outlet to the park and Waikkii beach is by way of the Waikki beach is of fast horses complain for the same reason, and also of the arrowness of the thoroughfare in many places, and the presence of the street railway track. The proposed boulevard is to be a magnificent driveway starting from a point in the center of the city—Union Square, opposite the Capitel Grounds, has been favorably mentioned—and running four miles in almost a straight line to Diamond Head and Kapiolani Park.

A number of fine whips among the ladges of the city are interested in the boulevard becomes a reality.

VISIT OF THE FLEET

Admiral Casey Will Bring All His Ships.

HE PACIFIC squadron, under command of Admiral Casey, will make a practice cruise to these waters in May of next year, if the plans of the commanding officer go through. That the Wisconsin was compelled to lie outside and that in consequence the ship was seen by very few people and in addition, that the ship was not the scene of some notable entertalaments, was a source of much an noyance to the Admiral and the offiers of the ship.

Before Admiral Casey left the port he signified to Captain Merry his intention to return in the spring with his entire squadron. He said that the intention was to make the cruise a practice one and that it would be his plan while here to engage the ships in all varieties of exercises so that there would be given opportunities for the Honolulu people to see the vessels, but the practice off port would be full of interest to all those who are interested in gunnery and evolutions.

Should the plan of Admiral Casey go through he will assemble his squadron at San Francisco after the close of his present cruise in South American waters. The ships which are to be engaged in that cruise are the pattleships Wisconsin and Iowa. The latter will be cleaned in dock at Valparaiso de Chile, where the flagship will join her. After a short stay there the two vessels will proceed north in a leisurely They will touch all along the coast and it is presumed, the Colombian revolution being over, may be joined in the northward journey by the Concord.

Just what vessels will comprise the squadron is not known, as there are several ships at Mare Island in com-mission but unattached to the squadron, as is the Oregon which is at Bremerton undergoing repairs. The ships now under command of Admiral Casey are the two battleships Wisconsin and Iowa, the cruiser Philadelphia, the gunbout Concord and the torpedo destroyer AT LAHAINA Farragut. The Japanese woman on Front street who was found last week suffering from poison died on Saturday night. Fre inquiries made by the sheriff's office appears that deceased and her husband may have administered the dose, but this the woman, between paroxysms of pain, strenuously denied. She told Sheriff Andrews that she had been drinking and that she drank from the bottle of poison thinking it was saki. The statements made by the man were rather conflicting, and it was concluded by the sheriff that he was dodging the truth. As there were warehouse and it he hospital.

Railroad Wharf is Fumigated.

The fumigation of the longest of the two railroad wharves was completed yesterday, and showed itself to be a success. At about 8 o'clock yesterday morning Jack McVeigh took his fumigating barge up to the mauka end of the wharf and let loese his fumes of hades. There are four divisions under the wharf, and during the day barge tied up to each one and each a dose. The railroad people quite a large gang of men at hand in order that any leaks which might appear could be stopped at once. The wharf showed itself to have been made almost airtight, and the work put into the building appears to have been very successful. The only place where there was any large and in the country of where there was any leakage to speak of was at the mauka end of the wharf toward the Iwilei side, where the flooring joins the earthwork. There the sulphur fumes managed to work their way through the holes and crevices which penetrated the coral rock and tight, and wherever a small leakage appeared, the crack through which the funes issued was promptly caulked with oakum and pitch.

The funnigation of the wharves will probably render them entirely rat proof. The wharves will probably to runnigated ogain after a period of about ten days has stapped.

NO MORE MALT

No more malt beer licenses are to be issued by Treasurer Wright until the termination of the case in the Federal court to determine the constitutionally of the liquor law in so far as it relates to the issuance of such licenser. Chester Doyle, of the police department, brought to Honolulu from Maul on the Kinau, a Japanese named Takiochi, of Wailuku, who recently received a sentence of ten years at the hands in making his arrangements to tent his wife to eternity, and only through an accident was the plot discovered. In some manner or other Takiochi managed to place in the stove belong-dismite, together with fuses, so that when Ichi lighted a fire therein an explosion would follow. As Ichi cooked for fifty or sixty Japanese who lived in house, the probabilities are that not only Ichi, but her boarders, would have been blown to atoms. JURY WORK

Liquor Conviction Concludes the Term.

(From Saturday's daffy.)

The criminal business of the Vovember term was concluded yesterday afternoon in the Circuit Court and the petit jury was finally discharge I after having been thanked by Judge Hamphreys for their long and untiring labor. The extended term closes next Monday and the finishing touches to the court work will be given today. The criminal part of the calendar was unusually heavy, but that part of the docket is practically cleared of all except the transition period cases.

LIQUOR SELLER CONVICTED.

Richard Kunst was found guilty of liquor seiling by a jury yesterday af-ternoon in spite of the instruction of Judge Humphreys ordering the jury to disregard the testimony of the government as to people coming from the defendant's place with liquor. In his ruling the court declared un-constitutional Section 457 of the Penal Laws of 1897. The decision, upon a motion by Deputy Attorney-General Cathwith this statute which reads, "The de livery of any spirituous liquor ither by the owner or occupier or by his or her servant or other person in the house or place, shall be deemed to be sufficient prima facle evidence of money or other e nsideration being given for such spir ituous liquor, so as to support a conviction unless proof to the contrary be given to the satisfaction of the jury."

The court held in a written opinion that no statute makes it illegal to give away spirituous liquor in one's own house, and the enforcement of this statute would mean that a man could be convicted for giving liquor to a sick The court then goes into a historical review of the enforcement of laws on the plea of necessity, referring to the reign of Stuarts and Tudors and recited a story of Virgil, "when makes the common Sybil lead his hero through his fabled hell."

In conclusion the court says, "Under the statute we are considering the defendant is practically required to prove his innocence. The fact of a person's going into a house is a perfectly inno-cent act, but if he is found with spirituous liquor upon coming out, a crime is to be presumed, and the owner of the house, who may have been miles the house, who may have been miles bond holders were properly secured, and away-beyond seas, is presumed to be also as to the general state of the planguilty of selling.

"The innocent act is established; the this doctrine, and believing the statute unconstitutional, I decline to instruct

The jury was instructed and tetired shortly before three o'clock and it required over two hours to reach an agreement of guilty. Mr. Strauss immediately moved for a new trial, which is to be heard this morning, at which time the defendant will be sentenced.

The jury was composed as fellows: James Kahalepua, H. C. Bickerton, Alex K. Aona, Alex G. Nicholas, Guy

Court, in passing sentence, "tende show to the satisfaction of the jury "tended to you are guilty of the crime charged. Ka-makea was in possession of these premises under a claim of title which she thought was good. The defendant Schnack was out of possession, though he claimed title also, and went with Juen and Savidge to evict the aged oc-cupant. The woman failed to leave at their request, and they forcibly seized her and removed her from the premises. The complaining witness in this case is old and feeble, about ninety years of age it seems, and the defendants going on the premises and finding this woman the premises and finding this woman alone and unprotected, proceeded to dis-possess her. The case is a peculiarly hard one. Here was an old Hawaiian woman, ignorant of the law, but believwoman, ignorant of the law, but believing she was in rightful possession, and here were three intelligent men, at least knowing your rights by law, going to the

The law allows a maximum fine of $100, while the prison sentence may be six months. The money penalty seems wholly disproportionate to the term of imprisonment, and also for the culvert work. The financial barometer, the stock market, has shown no signs of disturbance over the President's message, the fact being that the week's business was indicative of strength, rather than weakness. There was not a single instance of a great slump, as seemed to be indicated by the first discussions of the Hawalian paragraph of the message; but, instead, there has been a stiffening of some prices and a general feeling of confidence. While the sales have not been large, there has been developed no inclination to sell above the usual realizations, but the brokers find rather a more confident tone imparted to the market.

to sell above the usual realizations, but the brokers find rather a more confident tone imparted to the market.

Holders of stocks have had much to give them confidence in the better conditions reported from many places on the group. There is a feeling that there will be no change in the situation but for the better, as there will be inaugurated managerial reforms which will be of value to the stockholders. The Chinese recommendations have been discounted to such an extent that there was no great amount of surprise. The references to Cuba were expected, so the investing public had all the facts at hand with which to form opinion as to the future, and the fact that there has been little done in the way of realizing indicates that there will be no sort of a panic or slump, whatever may be the result of the deliberations of Congress.

The feature of this weeks business was the advance shown in Ohaa, which stock was sold at 13 for the paid-up, and 3 for the assessable. This, too, in the face of an assessment. But the fact that Ohaa is in such good shape has laid all to do with the present status of the stock. The paid-up is in greater demand, and these seems to be little on the market. The assessable was sold in a let of the charge at 2. There can be no doubt but all this strength is due to the fact that next year's cropy of came on this plantation is all in, and the present crop will be cut at once. The mill will begin its work next week, and there will be no stop until the entire extent has been put through.

The same amount of Orbin was sold and these above the contributions of the contributions of the contributions of the contribution of the contributions of the contributions of the contribution of the contributions of the plantation is all its work next week, and there will be no stop until the entire artput has been put through.

The same amount of Oahu was sold, and there again the price was swelled, the sales being between boards, and at 100 even. This is a clear advance of five points. This was the rate at which there were several private sales recorded. Wainles is strong at 55, with 60 asked, and there seems to be none of the shares in the market at this figure. There will be a higher before a lower culn grate for this stock as ording to the general opinion of the brokers. Kithel sold with some facility at 10, but the purchasers were greater in number than the sellers, and the slock seemed to have the same amount of strength that is evident in the rest of the list.

There has been some trading in Rapid Transit, the prices having been about the same as those of last week. There were sales at 20, and then the prices followed the trend of the previous novements, and went back to $4.50, but the holders are willing to sell only at 25. There is a fair dimaind in the market for the stock, but Pain laughs at the story that he is the purchaser, or wants the control of the stock. For the past week the Kalihi extension has been in running order, and the carrying capacity of the line has been greatly increased by it. The receipts of the line have been swelled by this extension about $000 a week. There was a sale of First National Bank stock registered at 110.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.

The market for real estate has been as quiet as usual, though there have been the customary number of small sales. There were two of the Campbell houses is Wilder agente transferred, but the prices have been withheld, as they are said to have been made more on a basis of cest than worth. There have been some sales and there is reported a fair inquiry for lots in Manoa, in the subdivisions there. The usual number of persons looking over property is reported from the agents of the properties which are being brought into closer contact with the center of the city through rapid transit extensions, but the sales are still light.

Bids are being received by Architect O. G. Traphagen, for the remodeling of the store building of T. H. Davies & Co., and some additions to the building. The old office will be torn down, and the plan is to have a building take its place of unpretentious style, but of the same solid appearance which marks the other buildings of the firm to Kashumanu street. The work on the basement for the new Lewers & Cooke building is being pushed night and day, as by the installation of a new detrie pump the excavation can be kept clear of water, and the work kept going on, so that there will be little delay in the event of stormy weather.

Independents Plan to Force Extra Session.

OME RULERS, who we not condent Rossevelt to remove Governor Dole, are planning a great mass neeting to demand an extra session of the Governor, with the alternative that his failure to call such a session shall be the ground for a vehement appeal for the vacation of the office of Governor. The matter was sprung at the Thursday night meeting of Home Rulers by John Emmeluth, and will be considered at the special meeting to be held Tuesday night.

The interpretation put upon the Hawallan paragraph in the message of President Roosevelt by the Home Rulers has been the cause of a decided change in the front presented by the party members. Whereas prior to the publication of the message there was a desire on the part of the Home Rule rembers of the Legislature to have an extra session, even if there should be eary an agreement to pass none but fiscal measures, now the Independents believe they can force the nession solely upon the grounds that develop ment along American linea means the inauguration of city and county governments. Emmeluth is said to make this interpretation of the message of the President, and to have spoken at length upon that phase of the situa-

The mass meeting planned is intend ed as a citizens' demand for multitud-inous officials, and there was a great fight over the proposition that no party lines be drawn. The proposers of the plan advanced the argument that there were men of all parties who wanted an extra session of the Legislature, and that to attempt to make the meeting a partisan affair would mean that the support of a vast number of influential citizens would be lost. The opponents of the non-partisan plan invisted | that as the majority party, the Home Rulers, should make the fight to a finish and pointed out that the Republican party undoubtedly would be represented in the meeting, through Emil Ney, bailiff of the courts, and that thus they would control action while remaining in command of the situation. The matter thus was left in absyance as the stress of argument left it impossible of decision at the meeting.

It was outlined in the specches of sible of decision at the meeting.

DECEMBER 17 TUESDAY

It is now time for the recurrence of the report that the Republican party 1+ irrevocably split upon tariff and reciprocity. Patience will show the same old winning vote, however,

Secretary Wilson hopes to teach the Filipino all about agriculture, but the difficulty may be that the gentle isiander will prove too busy raising Cain of his own brand to take up with the American variety.

While American political economists are striving to lift the workmen of the United States above the 'man with the boe's stage, theorists here are preaching that his place in Hawaii is in the mud and mire of rice and cane fields.

When the anti-Dole Home Rule "Republican petition reaches the capital we trust that somebody will take the trouble to exhume a dozen or two of the eld petitions asking for the restoration of the Queen, and note how many of "Republican" names signed to them.

Cone of the anonymous writers that infest the editorial columns of the independent says: "The Washington Star is referred to by the Advertiser as the organ of the President. If it is true, It very much out of tune." Indeed! In that case some forcible remarks which the President made about the branded Judge to a recent Hawailan callet must have been misunderstood.

The attitude of Danisa residents of St. Thomas and its adjacent islands has changed since Grant's administration when they cast a solid vote for union with this country. They now petition the Rigday to keep them as they are, politically, even though they would be more prospersus under American laws. Evidently the Danish solonial officers, who like their lobs, have done some skillful electionsering since the purchase negatiations were resumed.

The reckless way in which Mr. Emmeluth discusses public and economic questions appears in this paragraph of a letter written to a local paper in reply to the argument of Thomas Fitch. Speaking of the case with which an American farmer can produce rice Mr. Emmeluth says: "He rides a gang plow that, with the assistance of three horses, enables him to plow four times the crea that two Chinese and their water buffalo can do in the same time. Fancy a gang plow and three horses floundering in the soft goze of an Oahu swamp! They would stand about as much chance there as a circus would in a quicksand.

The proposed boulevard would be beautiful attraction. Further than that it is becoming a necessity now that the city is in the way of being gridironed with railway metal. Honolulu is getting "shy" on drives that are both agreeable and safe, and will be more so when the Pali road succumbs to the need of rapid transit. From such a boulevard as the Griswold syndicate proposes, the cars would be excluded and the roadbed would not be allowed to get out of repair. In a few years, with its palms grown and scarlet topped poincianas shading the way, the new drive may be numbered among the most enjoyable features of Honolulu's outdoor life.

In trying to defend himself from the charge of misconduct in the Gusaman case. Judge Humphreys, through his paper, states that, in denying the right of Judge Kaulukou to examine witnesses in the Hawaiian language, he was but following the letter and spirit of the organic law. This is one of the poor excuses that are hardly better than none. Speaking from the bench Jedge Humphreys said that he had been permitting lawyers to examine Hawalians in their own language, but that he would not do it for Judge Kaulukou because of a "false statement" he had made about the court. That is to say, this remarkable "jurist" had been violating the organic law on occasion, but would not do it for a man he did not like. To those who know the "judicial" person upon whom the Hawalian bar put an ineffaceable brand of shame, the proceeding seems to have been most characteristic.

The advocates of the small farmer in in his triumph over nature because of a some new kind of turnip

A STATE OF

A CONDITION NOT A THEORY.

The successful building up of American homesteads all over Hawaii would be an ideal condition to reach. If the thing could be done it would perforce prove its value, arrivationally, in adding to the variety of products, defensively, it would emble its series to provision for a single communically, it would reduce the cost of things communically, it would increase both experts and imports, positically it would rescue legislation from the size American much. For yours all this has been as well understood by the rule as of Hawaii as it now is by indicated statement. Laws have been framed to altract and secure settlers some colonies have been established, much land has been divided into household tracts. But where is the homestead? First and much shall not thousands of homesteads have come here, made inquiries of people who know, looked at things as they are and gone away. The newspapers have not scared them, for it is deviant to every publisher here that the more money in the life currents of trade.

The question of why the agricultural jury thus "sat on" Hawaii and found it an unprobtable place for small farmers is most interesting. The man with the hoe has found that the larger part of the arable land, lying near the coast, is worth vastly more for sugar produced on a big scale and by means of irrigation, than it is for cabbages or corn or wheat, assuming that these characteristic productions of the north temperate zone could be grown upon it at all. No one seeking a profit unless it be a Chinaman with a truck farm or a rice field in the environs of Honolulu, would think of growing anything else than sugar on sugar land. He could not afford to do so ing anything else than sogar on sugar land. He could not afford to do so on land with a sugar valuation, and such a move would be most unbusiness like in other ways. Prospecting farmers have sometimes thought of taking advantage of the high price of sugar by growing it on ten or twenty acre tracts and selling the cane to a plantation near by, but after counting the cost of planting, of waiting for a mature crop, of getting waiter on the land, and the trouble of suripping the cane, to say nothing about the mistakes likely to be made in the pursuit of an unfamiliar industry, they have abandoned the scheme. Some men have turned to fruit, but it takes time to grow trees and when they mature they are not very profitable. Most of our tropical friuts, the alligator pear, mange and breadfruit are not exportable, except on ice, and the local demand for them is limited. Oranges do not thrive well here, and our market prefers the fine California article which, in fact, is cheaper than poor oranges brought in from Kona. Owing to our climate lemons do not cure well. Pineappies are a fairer proposition, but they are a side crop at best. Our bananas, which sometimes sell at the rate of three for five cents in the San Francisco market, are a crop for Cainamen. The growing of vegetables, owing to numerous pests, never attracts white men who, it must be confessed, are less successful when they do try than are the Orientals. than are the Orientals.

A homestend to succeed must produce enough feed for a family, and enough beyond that to sell for the cash needed for clothing, taxes, repairs, insurance, live stock and small comforts. It remains to be shown that this can be done in Hawaii by any white man. We have told why so far as sugar land is concerned, but we have not spoken of the upper levels where the climate shades off from the tropical and the chance of growing ordinary staclimate shades off from the tropical and the chance of growing ordinary sta-ples would seem, at first thought, to be better. But, unluckily, as we go up hill we get into a region of superaoundant rain, and things spoil in the ground. Often at fair elevations the soil is but a thin carpet over solid masses of lava. Distance from the market, from supplies and from schools all count against the homesteader. He is beset with difficulties and he soon gives up. There was hope a few years ago when the Olaa settlers took hold, but have the gould the country is made melancholy by whan. gives up. There was hope a few years ago when the Olaa settlers took hold; but now the route through their country is made melancholy by aban-

We must therefore face the stern truth that this is a sugar country, and not much else; and the sterner truth that if sugar is to be grown at a profit cheap labor must be had. We do not say that white men could not work in the Hawaiian cane fields, but it is true that they will not do so any more than white men will work in the cane fields and rice swamps of Louislana and Cuba. If they would so work their wages would soon drive the planters out of business. Even the price of Japanese labor here is big enough to seriously reduce plantation dividends. In fact, Hawaii is situated somewhat as Jamaica was when her magnificent prosperity of 100 years ago was broken up by an increase in the price of labor. These Islands may get out better than their West Indian neighbor did through the fostering care of the United States; but those who claim that, if the sugar industry goes, small farming will take its place, should remember how little this recourse availed Jamaica when her staple industry was crushed.

en her staple industry was crushed. Too many people, especially people at a distance, theorize about Hawaii. But it is a condition, not a theory, that confronts us. Hawali is not New England, or Florida, or California. It is a tropical Island down on the edge of the equatorial seas, which must bear fruit after its kind or no fruit at all. Men do not gather grapes of thorns nor figs of thisties, nor do they reap in the tropics what is sown in the north temperate zone.

NO SPECIAL CHINESE LEGISLATION

Everything material in this country depends upon sugar. The commercial tide of Hawaii rises and falls with the price of sugar. The press, the politicians, the merchants, and the shipping men, all alike, depend upon it for a livelihood. It is then suicidal for any resident of Hawaii to attempt to hamper this all-pervading industry.

There may be and are, however, honest differences of opinion as to the best policy concerning certain phases of the industry. For example: The sugar plantations need more laborers. Where are they to come from? Milsugar plantations need more laborers. Where are they to come from? Millions of dollars have been spent by planters and by the government in bringing Norweglans, Germans, Portuguese, Japanese and Porto Ricans to Hawaii to till the fields. The expense is almost prohibitive, and United States immigration laws also hamper assisted immigration. But for the exclusion laws, all the laborers needed would forthwith come from China at their own expense. Why not, then, agitate for a change in the immigration laws, so that special provisions may be made allowing Chinese to come to Hawaii as agricultural laborers? The propriety of this course is being urged by many as the only solution of our labor difficulties.

The Advertiser is unable to agree with them. Irrespective of the question of whether Chinese labor would be beneficial to Hawaii or not, the Advertiser is absolutely opposed to the policy of asking Congress for special vertiser is absolutely opposed to the policy of asking Congress for special legislation upon this subject. One reason for this opposition is the fact that the request will never be granted. "Equal opportunity for all; special privilege for none," is a principle woven into the very fabric of the national sensitive.

It is unthinkable that, in a law involving a broad national policy, exemptions should me made in favor of one State, while the law in terms applies to all others. For example, it is national policy, embodied in law, to pro-hibit registering under the American flas any but American-built ships. Would the citizens of New York, for any reason, or under any condition that ean be imagined, dream of asking for a special provise in the shipping law, allowing the residents of that particular State to register foreign-built ships under the American flag?

Would Massachusetts or California ever think of asking that they Would Massachusetts or California ever think of asking that they be allowed free trade while the other States were under a protective tariff? Would even Colorado ever ask that it be allowed the free coinage of silver, while the other States continued under the gold standard? Equally with the shipping law, the protective tariff and the gold standard, is the Chinese immigration law a measure of national polley. While Hawaii is not yet a State, it has been admitted by Congress to the high status of a "Territory of the United States," with practically all the privileges and advantages of a State, except the power to elect certain offi-

It is illegical and unreasonable that the citizens of the Territory of Hawait, who have been granted every material advantage, every legal protec-tion, and every constitutional guaranty which the United States affords to its sovereign States and its most favored citizens, should accept this "equal opportunity" as a matter of course and ask for a "special privilege" orded to such States and citizens.

It is claimed that Hawaii's position is unique, in that we are not only short of labor, but are so isolated that no laborers other than. Chinese, are available on like favorable terms.

This is partly true; but we are no worse off than the fruit farmers of California, while the probibition extends to Chinese only, of all the world's

We knew when we sought annexation that the Chinese exclusion acwould apply here, and with this full knowledge accepted the privileges and benefits of American citizenship. We also assumed the obligations and burdens of that status,

Even if it were possible to secure the special exemption asked for, does it not lay us open to the charge that we are Americans "for revenue only," when we accept the free market accorded the sugar growers of California and ask for the labor supply which is refused them, although they need it nearly, if not quite, as much as we do?

When the national accordance is the special exemption asked for, does it

When the national policy concerning Chinese laborers changes, we will receive the benefits or be subject to the ills thereof, in common with our fellow-citizens on the Mainland. Until that change takes place it is sound business policy for us to quit chasing rainbows; to look elsewhere than China for our labor supply, and recognize as a finality that for better or worse Hawaii is and will continue to be an integral part of the United States, and subject to its national policies, without hope or possibility of variation there for our special benefit.

FIGHT OVER CUBA.

Among the citizens of this Torritory are many who have not been Ameri cans for a sufficiently long time to per mit them to get the proper perspective Those there are who accept the pronouncements of the first message of Provident Roosevelt as law in itself. but they appear to forget that there is a large and peculiar body which stands between recommendations and law hetween the promise of the head of the party and fulfilment by another branch of government.

The message of President Roosevelt is an able document and sets forth clearly the views of the executive as to what would be the ultimate end in good government for the nation. Should be find, however, that the developments of the next month indicate that it would be better policy to change view upon any point comprehended in his message, it would be idle to argue that even he would regard his message as dicta on all points of policy. That there are two views he himself recognizes in the paragraphs regarding relations with Cuba. The President clways was an earnest partisan of the Cubans, and was one of the enthusiastic ones who never was able to see that there was any guile in the heirs to the Pearl of the Antilles. So it was that the service of the President in the field was one full not only of intense action, but as well of sympathy for the people received the direct benefits the intervention of the United States. It is but natural, then, that at this, the first opportunity which he has to show great interest in the prople, that he should move to give to Free Cuba all the advantages which come from close relations with the great republic But there is a side to the matter which It is not well to overlook before the business men of the Territory give themselves up to gloomy forebodings. It a not disloyalty to the President to say that all the reforms which he advocates will not be enacted into law. The pronouncement of the chief executive as e reciprocity is as strong as that up or Cuba or exclusion. Yet in the tele-grams from Washington so steadfast a supporter of the government as Sena tor George C. Perkins, of California, declares that he believes there will be no action upon any of the reciprocity treaties, and especially that with France, and quotes the very words of the President in support of his position against them.

While the newspapers from the Na-tional Capital are not of as recent date as those from the coast, there is in them much which affords to us, at this distance, a sidelight upon the views with which members have some to the present session of Congress. The following quotation from the news colimns of the Stor, of Washington, would indicate that the question of what i to be done for Cuba has been though out for themselves by many members and they do not give opinions which should be other than reassuring to the repple of Hawall:

The element of interest in the situation is the fact that this disposition is entertained by some Senators who have here tofore been recognized as the staunchest advocates of the protective tariff system They declare their attitude in this to be consistent, however, and explain it on the ground that present concessions would be the lesser of two evils that it something isn't done for the Cubans, annexation is inevitable and free trade would follow-a contingency that is in-tolerable to the protectionists.

It is said that it will be contended by to wait for the establishment of a Cuban resolution amending the Dingley act ac as to provide that sugar imported from Cuba shall pay 20 per cent less duty than other sugars, and that Cuban tobacco shall be given a discount. It is c'aimed that such a resolution would not be ob-noxious to the "most favored nation" clauses in treatics with foreign countries from the fact that Cuba is still the ward of this government, and that we can regulate tariff arrangements for the de

The intimation that a proposition of the nature of the foregoing is likely to be made, means, it is said, that if such tariff concessions are attempted one of the bitterest factional fights the republican party has ever engaged in will be witnessed this winter. The little flurry over the Porto Rican tariff will not be i circumstance to it.

The American Protective Tariff League and the high protectionists generally are absolutely set against any concession to Cuba. Their opposition is centered against reduction of the sugar tariff and the duties on tobacco, but they claim that the principle of protection is the main stake. They do not believe that concessions are necessary to obviate possible annexation; they think the spirit of protection to home producers in this country will keep Cuba out of the Union.

They have won over to their side the friends of the beet sugar growers of the west and tobacco raisers of every sec-tion, and are prepared to make a stiff fight in the House and Senate against any proposition to let down the tariff bars to Cuban planters.

ation of Cuba will be the outcome. It is pointed out that the Cubans have lost the market they formerly possessed in Spain. Their products pay duty now, as every other import. They find the doors of the United States customs houses closed to them, except when they can pay a stiff rate of duty, and in this plight it is claimed they are suffering. The high protectionists and the beetsugar men raise the cry that concessions to Cuba will redound mainly to the benefit of the sugar trust in this country. They demand that Cuba shall be given her independence and then left to work out her own economic salvation along

WILL PASS

Legislative Plan.

OME RULERS are preparing to "do" politics on a scale never before attempted. The plans upon which the members of the executive committee and affiliated members of the Legislature will work are now two-fold. While they are not overlooking anything which might be considered as ammunition in their warfare against Governor Dole, they have inaugurated a class of work which indicates that this great commercial enterprise will bring to the islands.

In the meantime the stock market is exceedingly quiet. Sales have been made of Ewa at twenty-four during the last two weeks. Oahu is changing hands at $100 and Walalua is fifty-five bid. Killel sold well during the past few days at $10 per share. McBryde is shares for bid. An assessment of $1 per share will be called by the Oha Company this week; this will make the assessable shares 60 per cent, or $12, paid

At that time it is expected there will be a representative session of the heads of the various district and other local clubs and committees, which shall decide the lines to be followed in all subsequent matters of party government. As showing how the party proposes to proceed, the following editorial, from the Kuokoa Home Rula, the original organ of the party, and for which George Markham the editor, still claims that honor, is

ARE NOW PREPARING.

The leaders of the Home Rule Aloha Aina party are making arrangements for the publication, weekly, of such laws as are drafted, ant that the said laws will be in shape when presented for the con-sideration of the legislature at its regu-lar session in 1903; and only those who will in advance pledge themselves to sup-port and carry out the wishes of the Hawallan people (Lahul) will be nominated as candidates for the next legislature,

The reason for publishing the bill is that the Hawalian people (Lahul) will be able to know the views and opinions of its leaders, on those laws which may be finally adopted, and also to prepare a draft for the party platform, and to have the same ready by the time the delegates come here from the several d'stricts of the Territory.

These arrangements are being made beforehand, for the reason that we do not wish to leave any of our work of were. whatsoever kind to do at the last moment, as all work done in haste is untiffectory and record read to third up for satisfactory and no good results come from it when presented for the action of the legislature.

The senators who have been selected and been declared to serve the four-year rm, under the terms of the fundamen tal laws of the Territory, should all be requested to be present when questions of this nature are to be considered.

The time is very short, when the dis-cordant sounds will soon be heard from the trumpets of the different political parties and factions, giving vent to their political views and opinions of their ad-ministrative abilities, and also of the platform, each one claiming theirs to be he only right one, the others to be all wrong; this one is only a goat within, outwardly covered with sheep's wool; they are all wrong, they are not of us, and all thought and expressions of the like from them are misleading and made to deceive.

The Hawalian people (Lahul) must be patient, be as one, and stick together for the most effective remedy for coughs of every kind and in every stage.

During the last days of the regular session of the first legislature, just over, a large stock of laws and bills was completed, and it only required to pass a third reading. Then Governor Dole was petitioned for an extension of the regu-lar term for fifteen days. This he refused, and those laws now remain as they were. For this reason, all those laws and bills which required to be read a third time, will be the first to be taken up for consideration at the next regular term of the legislature in 1993.

One of the most annoying coughs is a throat cough, where you have that constant tickling in your throat. It comes on worse at night, keeps you swake, and makes you have that smothered feeling in the chest. It hardly seems possible what one dose of Cherry Pectoral will do for this kind of a cough, it brings such marked relief.

Put up in large and small bottles. When the cough gets down deep in the chest and the lungs are painful, put one of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Plasters directly over the tender lung. It will draw out all the spreness.

Boys' Brigade this piece of land under certain conditions, which do not interfere with its purposes at other times than during school hours. The Board of Education's land, however, was not as big as was needed for such a purpose.

Another adjacent two and a half acres of the Bishop estate solved the problem, and after a great many pre-liminaries concerning leases, this fine combination of land, five acres in all, was secured for a term of years.

The conditions of the lease make it accessary to put the grounds in shape, which, of course, the management are only too willing to do. The place will have to be thoroughly ditched, as there has been taro and rive planted there until very recently. Then there is perhaps four feet difference in the grade from the upper to the lower part.

The difficulty, as with most difficulties nowadays, is a matter, of money. If the Brigade had the money which they expect to get from the fire claims ecommission awards, they could handle the hear commission awards, they could handle the hear interests in with them temporarily, provided these people will help to meet. The money was part of an old lesue of Hawailan notes under the monarchy, and

W. O. Smith Talks of Recreation Grounds.

Editor Advertiser: The city of Honolulu is growing rapidly in population. and the demand for land for residence and business purposes is increasing.

While at present there is somewhat less activity in the demand for property, the growth of the city is marked. With the establishment of cable communication and the development of Pearl Harbor in the near future, Honofulu is destined to grow and extend its borders. A company is about to begin the work of filling in the low lands lying between the harbor and Waikiki and a large area of land suitable for business purposes and residence will be

The dredging of Pearl Harbor and the building of the naval station, and the works and harbor facilities about to be instituted there by the Oahu Railroad and Land Company will contribute very much to the growth of the city in that direction.

Honolulu is no longer a village, but a growing city. The volume of business carried on here is that of a city of no mean proportions. And with the develocean and the vast countries bordering upon it. Honolulu will become one of the important points and scaports of and ill-considered subdivisions have been made, it will become much more difficult, and perhaps practically impossible, to secure good results.

At present the need for recreation grounds in localities which are densely populated is very great. The number of children and youth needing facilities of this nature is already large, and rapidly increasing. The efforts of those who have organized the Boys' Brigade are most commendable, but they are contending with great difficulties.

The best work that can be done for promoting those things which make for law and order is with the young. The value of the persistent and great work of those carrying on the educational and religious institutions in the community cannot be over-estimated, but these should be supplemented. Greater facilities for exercise and occupation during spare hours should be provided for the active boys and girls, It is already difficult to obtain suitable areas for recreation grounds, and unless provision is made for the future these difficulties will increase WILLIAM O. SMITH.

None of the fishermen will undertake to go out to sea either in the native cances or big sampans, owing to the threatening weather. Most of them fear that if they go out at night they may be caught in the throes of a storm suddenly coming upon them, giving them small opportunity to reach the harbor in safety. The sea has been unusually rough for ten days, and fishing under these circumstances is not a joy or even profitable.

The price of mullet has naturally gone skyward, although there seems to be sufficient on sale to meet all demands.

WILL STUDY

Jared Smith's New Mission in Hawaii.

The irrigation of Hawaii is the next study which is to occupy the attention of the Department of Agriculture. Jared Smith, on his return from Hilo, found a letter awaiting him from Elwood Mead, in charge of the irrigation bureau of the Agricultural Department at Washington, transferring him to that service. His new duties begin on the first day of January, and he will the first day of January, and he will work under the direction of the irriga-tion bureau for the first two months f the new year. Exactly what the scope of the study of irrigation in this Territory is to be is not disclosed in the letter from Mr. Mead. Detailed instructions are coming later, probably by tomorrow's mail.

The investigation will be scientific, and will take in the methods of pumping water on the small farms, and for homes, though no doubt the methods used by the big sugar plantations in the development of their water supply, will receive some attention.

In the course of his investigations, Mr. Smith will make a tour of the other Islands, though his plan of campaign has not been entirely mapped out as yet.

out, as yet. His investigation will take in the best methods of irrigation, the use of fuel and machinery for the purpose, and how the system in Hawaii may be im-proved. Mr. Smith will continue in charge of the work of the experiment station, even though nominally under station, even though nominally under the direction of the irrigation bureau. This plan is adopted by the depart-ment, no doubt, in order to save the expense of sending a man to Hawali with special instructions to study irri-gation, as Jared Smith is already on the ground and can secure the same information, as might be obtained from rending an expert, and at considerably less cost to the government. less cost to the government,

BOYD MAKES HIS REPORT

Plan to Conserve Water Supply on Maui.

Land Commissioner E. S. Boyd presented a lengthy and comprehensive re-port to the Executive Council a: yesterday's meeting upon the results of his recent tour of inspection on Maul $16 % and Hawaii. His recommendations in regard to the opening of large tracts of land on both of the islands were generally approved, and within a short time the people there will have an opportunity to take advantage of the lineral Hawalian homestead laws.

Mr. Boyd reported on the Papa lands in South Kona, Hawaii, which will be thrown open to settlers within a short time. This tract is comp sed mostly of second-class pastural and forest linds and comprises about 1200 acres. In the Kona district Mr. Boyd also visited the farm of F. Buchholtz and was delighted with what he saw. He is growing apples, almonds and olives on the lan I. Your back aches, your head aches, and all of these are doing well. Some of the apple trees are already bearing Oh, you say it's because I'm tired fruit, and the olives and almonds are doing finely. Mr. Buchholtz also has planted a large number of rubber trees and expects soon to realize on this crop. They can only do just so much, and He believes that growing rubber for commercial purposes would be very successful in the island as the plant grows on bare rock almost.

Kona district, Mr. Boyd reported, is having more rain than usual, which is logged.

They cry for assistance in the many due to the thick growth of iantana in that section.

In the North Kona district the home and one tier of lots is to be thrown We say so, and people right here in open immediately. This land is very much in demand, as it is good sugar Drug Co.'s store. Instead rese vations will be made for the propagation of forest trees, as the water supply to of coffee is so low now that it doesn't pay, and the people on that Island believe that the United States should put a protective tariff on coffee, in order to protect the industry here.

Mr. Smith spoke very enthusiastically both of the coffee and sugar plantations, and the general vegetation on Hawaii.
